Sensor and Detection Systems Patent Portfolio

US Patents

3 issued patents
9 published applications

Technology Areas

The portfolio spans across several technologies, including intelligent transportation, home security, smoke detectors, traffic counters, CO2 sensors and moisture sensors.

Bidding Deadline

January 15, 2012

Evidence of Use

GTT Group will provide normalized claim charts under NDA.

Applicable Markets

The Sensor and Detection Systems portfolio affects three distinct market segments:

Intelligent Transportation Systems (ITS)

- The ITS market has experienced rapid growth as information and communication technologies are applied to traditional transportation systems. The inventions taught in the portfolio were found to be applicable to current ITS technologies. The global ITS market was estimated to be $5B in 2010 and expected to reach $18.5B by 2015.

Moisture Sensors

- The portfolio was found to be applicable to modern moisture sensors (or hygrometers). These sensors are used in environments that are particularly sensitive to humidity. Examples of these environments include industrial spaces, museums, greenhouses, etc. The value of the moisture sensor market for 2011 was estimated to be $300M.

Electronic Security Systems

- The portfolio was found to be applicable to security technology. The electronic security sector was estimated at $10.9B in 2010. Used for residential and commercial properties, these systems include burglar alarms, car alarms, fire alarms, and smoke detectors.
